Fighting rages in Middle East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Air, sea and ground battles raged today on Israel's front lines with Egypt and Syria as the Middle East erupted in the widest fighting since the 1967 war.

Egypt claimed its forces overran a number of Israeli positions on the Sinai peninsula and raised the Egyptian flag on the eastern side of the waterway.

Sources in Tel Aviv confirmed that the Egyptians broke through some Israeli defenses in the first large-scale Egyptian crossing of the 200foot-wide canal since the war.

Cairo Radio said Israel hammered its positions on the southern end of the canal and reported sea and air fighting in the Gulf of Suez area. It claimed Egypt knocked down 11 Israeli warplanes and lost 10 of its own in the biggest aerial engagement between the two countries since the 1967 conflict.

It also claimed Syrian forces broke through Israeli lines along the Golan Heights ceasefire line near the three-cornered border between Israel, Syria and Lebanon.

Israel called a partial mobilization of its forces and thousands of Israelis left their homes and Yom Kippur services in synagogues to report to their military units or air raid shelters.

The White House in Key Biscayne, Fla., announced that President Nixon was following the situation closely since receiving a 6:30 a.m. telephone call from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Pentagon officials said the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean was maintaining normal operations. But they would not rule out ship movements toward the troubled area if the situation worsened — an action taken during an outbreak of hostilities in 1970.

The Cairo radio broadcast said the Egyptian canal crossing was launched after the Israelis tried to "seize part of our land on the western bank of the canal."

"The engagements still are under way on the eastern bank of the Suez," it added.

Egypt announced in Cairo that Israeli jets attacked its positions at Zafra and Sukhna near the southern end of the Suez Canal. The waterway has been the effective cease-fire line between Egypt and Israel since the Jewish state steamrolled over Egyptian forces in the Sinai peninsula in the 1967 conflict.

In Washington, the State Department said it was watching the situation closely but planned no immediate comment.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency said Egyptian territorial waters and those in the vicinity of Egypt and Israel are "areas of naval operations" and warned foreign embassies in Cairo to stay clear.

"The measure was taken in response to the Israeli attack today on the Gulf of Suez," the official agency said.

The danger areas are in both the Mediterranean at the northern end of the canal and the Red Sea near the Gulf of Suez at the canal's southern end, the government said.

Arab radio stations monitored in Beirut, Lebanon, canceled regular broadcasts and played martial music.

The first reported fighting broke out along the Syrian-Israeli cease-fire line about 2 p. m. — 8 a.m. EDT — capping a week of escalating tension prompted by reports of military buildups and troop movements on both sides.

It was fighting between Israel and Syria that tripped the lever in a process of increasing confrontation that led to the SixDay War of 1967.

Clayton said the man apparently died of natural causes.

His body was found at 11:05 a.m. Friday on the sidewalk in front of the south entrance of the food store.

Strand was born Sept. 30, 1916 at Jamestown, N. Y., and was a World War II veteran.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Viola Griffin of Sinclairville, N. Y., and Mrs. Doris Halcomb of Ottawa, Ohio; and one brother, Charles Strand of Jamestown, N. Y.

The body was removed today from Nunnelee Funeral Chapel to be taken to Peterson Funeral Home in Frewsburg, N. Y., where services will be conducted Wednesday.

Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery at Jamestown.

6 hurt, 1 seriously

Six persons were injured, one seriously, in four traffic accidents in the Bootheel area Friday and early today, according to the highway patrol.

Beatrice Smith, 51, of Chicago, Ill. received internal injuries and a serious back injury at 4:40 p.m. Friday, five miles east of Wyatt on Highway 60 when the car in which she was riding ran off the road, down an embankment and struck a telephone pole.

Mrs. Smith and the driver, George Smith, 69, of Chicago, Ill., who received minor injuries, were taken to PADCO Hospital in Cairo, Ill.

A race between two cars resulted in two collisions at 4 a.m. today one-half mile east of Tallapoosa on Highway 153.

The patrol said today Lilbern Dean Meese, 17, of Gideon and Michael Meese, 21, of Tallapoosa were apparently racing when Lilbern Meese's car struck a bridge railing and the other car ran into a yard, struck a cotton trailer, knocking it into a pickup truck.

Lilbern Meese and a passenger in the Michael Meese auto, Ricky Meese, 17, of Tallapoosa received minor injuries. Both were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

One person was injured in a head-on collision at 2:40 p.m. Friday on an unmarked gravel road two miles south of Perryville.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Ronald Schumer, 16, of Perryville and a car driven by Earl Joe Erwin, 45, of Perryville met on a hill crest and struck head-on.

Erwin suffered a broken leg and was taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville.

Vicky Roxex, 19, of Wardell received a head injury at 6:35 p.m. Friday when she ran a stop sign on the exit ramp of Interstate 55 and collided almost head on with a car driven west on Highway 77 by Bobby Long, 32, of Benton.

Miss Roxex was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Taxable property values rise

How much have property values in Scott County changed in the last five years? What effect has it had on the local tax situation?

According to a government survey, just released, the assessed value of realty and other holdings subject to local property taxes has increased appreciably in the period. It has climbed 21 per cent.

The survey, which covered every section of the country, was conducted by the Census Bureau in connection with its 1972 Census of Governments. It was the first such study since 1967.

As a result, data is now avaliable on more than 80 million pieces of real and personal property that are carried on local tax assessment rolls throughout the nation.

They are valued for local tax purposes at $641 bullion, after deduction for those that are legally exempt. This compares with a net of $442 billion five years ago.

In Scott County, the figures show, he assessed value of locally taxable property came to $49,718,000, as against the total in 1967, $41,093,000.

In general, throughout the country, the assessed value is the base against which tax rates are applied. But it is not necessarily the true market value of the property. More often than not, property is assessed for tax purposes at well below the actual value.

Related to population, the tax base in Scott County was equivalent to $1,489 for every man, woman and child in the local area.

At the time of the previous survey, five years

Handicap survey begins

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid R-1 Enlarged School District is making a census of children from birth to 21 years of age who are handicapped or have suspected handicaps.

The 77th General Assembly enacted comprehensive legislation broadening education services to handicapped children and youths under the age of 21, and a statewide census is now being conducted.

Parents, guardians, or persons who know of a handicapped child in the New Madrid School district are asked to contact the local administrator of the school.

The handicapped areas include: blind, partially sighted, deaf, hard of hearing, speech defect, educable mentally retarded, trainable mentally retarded, profoundly retarded, emotionally disturbed, specific learning disabilities, orthopedically handicapped and special health problems such as cancer or cardiac, cerebral palsy and epilepsy.

Anyone who knows of such a child should contact the following administrators:

Bill Nance, 379- 5274 in Portageville; Joe Scott, 471-0077 in Matthews; Glenn Dyke, 748-5568 in New Madrid; James Lovett, 357- 4324 in Parma and Roy Hon, 688-2481 in Lilbourn.

In reporting to the local administrator, persons should include the kind and degree of handicap, the parent or guardian's name and address, the child's name, birthday and birth certificate number.

Protect bicycles from theft

By PAT GROJEAN

With the increasing number of bicycles in the city theft of the two-wheelers is becoming a problem.

Sikeston police department receives many stolen bicycle reports and is doing its best to recover them. Sgt. Richard Couch, police safety officer, said many other bicycle thefts are not reported to the police department and encouraged peopld to report such a theft.

To aid in recovery of a bicycle, Couch suggested that each owner should register his bicycle with the police department. The registration information should include the name of the bicycle manufacturer, serial number and any indentifying descriptions, including scratches or other marks.

He added that any time a bicycle is parked, it should be locked to an immovable object the potential thief cannot lift the chain over.

A sturdy chain should be used and the police department suggests using a heavy duty combination lock or padlock, instead of one of the cheaper bicycle locks.

Another way to aid the police department in identifying a bicycle is to write the owner's name under the seat or fender.

Couch suggested that another way to aid in identification is to pull off one of the grips on the handlebars, write the owner's name on a slip of paper, wrap it in foil, drop it in the handlebar, and replace the grip.

Anyone who sees someone who appears to be stealing a bicycle is asked to call the police department so officers can be sent to investigate.

However, the best way to prevent theft in Sikeston and aid in recovery is to register all bicycles with the police department.

The police department currently has several bikes for which owners cannot be identified. Couch said one bike has been repainted so many times that it is impossible to tell which was the original color.

The bicycles are held at the police department, but an arrangement has recently been for use of unclaimed or unreturnable bicycles by Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic.

The police department will keep the cycles about 120 days, then release them to the diagnostic clinic. In the agreement, however, is a stipulation that if the department learns later that a particular bicycle is stolen, it can be retrieved from the clinic.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Every hour fire destroys or damages 67 American homes.

Every hour and 20 minutes one person -- most frequently a child or elderly person -- dies in a dwelling fire.

There is no mystery about the causes of most home fires. A carelessly discarded cigarette is left to smolder in an overstuffed chair, electrical circuits are overloaded and overfused, uncleared rubbish becomes a breeding place for fire.

The causes of most fire deaths in homes are not mysterious either. Lives are lost when the simple rules of safety from fires are violated -- smoking in bed, leaving children alone in the house, neglecting to teach youngsters that matches and lighters are not playthings.

A critical failure is being unprepared for fire emergencies in the home-- no family planning of escape routes, no periodic family fire drill to make sure that adults and children can all act quickly and without panic.

Fire represents failure.

4-H WEEK

At agricultural exhibitions all over the country, demonstrations of youthful skills in agricultural pursuits are prominently featured. A leader in the encouragement of these skills is the 4-H club. National 4-H Week is to be observed this year from October 7-13. The purpose of the week is, "To expand 4-H, gain greater public support, get more volunteer 4-H leaders, express appreciation to 4-H friends locally and nationally."

Those who have been fortunate enough to attend county or state fairs this year have seen the results of 4-H club work in animal husbandry, home economics and other fields. Any boy or girl between the ages of nine and 19 may become a 4-H member. Under the guidance of a 4-H club leader, he can begin acquiring qualities of responsible citizenship as well as an understanding of the science of producing the food and fiber upon which life depends.

The emblem of the 4-H speaks for itself: My Head to clearer thinking, My Heart to greater loyalty, My Hands to larger service, My Health to better living, for my club, my community and my country. More than two million youthful members of 4-H clubs stand behind the high goals and principles of 4-H. 4-H Week is the one time of the year when parents and the nation can respond to the young who must carry our civilization and our country forward to a brighter future.

PRIVATE PRESS SERVES PUBLIC

Now it is our turn to celebrate! The week, Oct. 7-13 is Newspaper Week. The theme is: "Newspapers: your foundation for free choice."

Your newspaper is a prime example of a private organization which serves the public interest. Independent, and free from government control, it is truly the public voice.

We play an important role in the life of the community. We give you the facts, thoroughly researched, so that you may depend on what you read.

We also provide a vehicle for our merchants to compete at the marketplace for your favor through constructive, informative advertising.

While our principal concern is to report to you the happenings at the local, county and state level, we feel it is an obligation to interpret those national issues which affect us here locally.

We do not expect all of our readers to agree with us in our reporting of the news, and we fully expect to be told about the differences. While it is almost impossible to be impartial in this day and age, we are determined to be fair and to win your respect. This is our objective.

If you are among those of us who have wondered why American aid to many countries since World War II ended hasn't gained us real friends, then this report about a Canadian commentator, Gordon Sinclair, may be enlightening.

If Mr. Sinclair was a dues-paying American, he'd be called a selfish- isolationist. But he's a Canadian who views us quite clearly from that distance.

He says:

"Sixty years ago when I first started reading newspapers I was reading of floods on the Yellow River and the Yangtze. And who was rushing in the men and money to heal the hurt and repair the damage and feed the hungry? Americans.

"In the days before the dams, there were devastating floods in the Nile delta. And who went without even waiting to be asked? Americans.

"And when there were floods along the Amazon or the Niger or the Ganges? Americans to the rescue.

"This year, 1973, the floods came along the bottom lands of Middle America. Which of their foreign friends offered to help bail the Americans out? No one.

"Germany, Japan, Britain and Italy were lifted up from the debris of war by Americans who gave billions in aid and forgave billions in debt.

"When the French franc was threatened with collapse in 1956, American dollars raced to the rescue. The only reward Americans ever received for that selflessness was to be insulted and swindled in the streets of Paris.

"When the earthquakes happen elsewhere American dollars, expected, arrive. As in Managua, Nicaragua, recently.

"This year, 59 communities in the United States were devastated by tornadoes. Not one peso, pound, franc or lira came back. Not one.

"The Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine pumped billions of American dollars into defeated and discouraged countries, into miserable, backward or mismanaged countries.

"Now the newspapers in those countries are making jokes about America's diluted dollar which dissipated its strength on them.

"Technocracy to Japanese means radios.

"Technocracy to the Germans means cameras and cars.

"Technocracy, American-style, puts men on the moon. And then shares with the world the precious harvest of knowledge.

"But when America stubs her toe, her public scandal uglies her image on the front pages of the world. In the same nations American labels were removed from gratuitous foreign aid.

"When Americans get themselves out of this bind -- and they will -- I'd not blame them if they said:

" 'Let somebody else build foreign dams, buy Israeli bonds, redesign foreign buildings so they won't shake apart in a quake.'

"I can name 5,000 times when Americans have raced to help other people in trouble; they have to be the most generous and the least appreciated people on earth.

"And when they get their government reorganized and their dollar revitalized, I wouldn't blame them if they just said, 'To hell with the rest of the world!'"

So far as we're concerned, we're glad that a Canadian said it for us -- even though Americans won't stop being generous to any people who are in need.

ALL IS NOT GLOOM IN BASE CLOSINGS

Americans have nursed so long at the federal breast that the mere thought of having to get along on their own gives them severe teething problems.

Cries of anguish went up across the land at the recent announcement by the Department of Defense that it planned to shut down or cut back 274 domestic military bases, eliminating some 26,200 civilian and 16,600 military jobs.

Closing of the Air Force Base in Laredo, Tex., claimed Mayor J. C. Martin, will deprive his city of $15 million a year. "I was stunned," he said. "We are economically dependent on the base."

In Rhode Island, where the Navy is the state's largest employer, Democratic Rep. Fernand St. Germain predicted that closing of all naval facilities in Newport would have "consequences, that may approach that of the depression of the '30s."

As usual, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater had a biting comment: "It is ironic that members of Congress who have yelled the loudest in recent years for lower defense spending are among those complaining because establishments in their states were closed."

A funny thing has been happening, however, on the way to the closing.

As noted by Alan L. Otten in the Wall Street Journal, "a disproportionately large share of military installations and defense contracts seems to gravitate to the home areas of high- ranking members of committees dealing with military matters."

According to a survey by Congressional Quarterly, he says, two-thirds of the members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees represent states or districts where military outlays are the largest source of federal funds.

One city that will not be having teething problems is New Orleans, which happens to be in the home district of Rep. F. Edward Hebert, who happens to be chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Indeed, Rep. Hebert issued a press release in March informing his constituents that 1,700 new jobs and millions of dollars in military payrolls and construction outlays were coming into the district — "undoubtedly the largest single move made by any branch of the military into the New Orleans area in history."

Some of the Navy personnel are being transferred from Omaha. This elicited a blast from Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska who claimed that the whole thing was "an attempt by the Navy to cater to the demands and wishes" of Rep. Hebert and that rather than saving money, the moves would cost the taxpayers an extra $41.5 million or more.

But all is not gloom for those communities not fortunate enough to have friends on the congressional military committees.

According to Members of Congree for Peace through Law, a group of congressmen dedicated to trimming the fat off defense budgets, the closing of a base does not necessarily result in economic disaster.

Preliminary findings in a study being conducted by the MCPL show that in communities which have received special assistance after local base closings, 79,456 defense- oriented jobs were replaced by 80,762 new non-defense jobs.

Moreover, base closing have provided communities with vocational and technical training facilities for 10,000 students, 3,000 former military housing units to meet civilian housing needs and facilities for industrial parks and recreation areas.

Do we want a true peacetime economy, or don't we?

Gov't Launching Massive Crackdown On Anti- Black Construction Unions

WASHINGTON--- Some plumbers union leaders and rank- and- filers, quivering with indignation, have been denouncing the White House for code- naming its famed Man From U.N.C.L.E. operation "The Plumbers." One unionist recently wrote his newspaper that "I would like to remind this administration that leaks are repaired by plumbers with the dextrous use of wrenches and torches, not by electronics or other felonious means."

So I thought I would remind this literate, irate plumber of others in his national union who use torches, all right, and are also suspected of using bullets and batteries and are victims of bombs such as in St. Louis Local 562 where no one appears able to tourniquet the leakage of blood.

But there is something more which might interest the indignant ones. There is federal action to force this plumbers local and others to stop discriminating against black and Spanish- surnamed workers seeking to earn an honest dollar.

The record is there not only for gory Local 562 but for another St. Louis Local, 35. In both cases the Dept. of Justice was forced to move in to open the unions' books. The suit against Local 562 charged the union "with practicing racial discrimination by failing to accept blacks as members and refer them for employment." Finally, there was a consent decree requiring the local "to undertake efforts designed to increase black membership to 20 per cent within the next four years."

Similar action had to be taken against the "brother" Local 35. But in St. Louis, these discrimination charges are not restricted to the plumbers. The government had to move against other AFL-CIO building and construction unions.

Nor is this federal action limited to St. Louis. There is Chicago Pipefitters Local 597. Here too the Justice Dept. forced a consent decree for the admission of blacks and Spanish- surnamed journeymen.

And recently the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) moved on Denver's Pipefitters Local 208 and its Joint Apprenticeship Committee charging them with discrimination against blacks "in recruiting, membership, selection, referral, apprenticeship, testing and other selection devices."

Apparently the wrench and the torch are hard to come by in some plumbers locals--- just to mention a few here. It appears to be a construction labor obsession. Federal actions are on record all over the nation.

At this moment the Dept. of Labor is dispatching communications to the administrative committees of what is known as "hometown" or "voluntary" plans in 44 areas. These letters are the result of auditing the efforts of these metropolitan, sometimes statewide, tripartite committees--- made up of building union officials, construction contractors and minority leaders.

Each committee has been audited since last April for results of the touted fraternity between the clenched- fist union card holders and the applicants who want to join a union and go to work.

And I'm told the audits show "a very mixed bag." Of the 44 voluntary anti-employment- discrimination "plans" only the one in Kansas City arouses the government auditors' enthusiasm. "Incredibly good," is the description for the Kansas City "hometown" plan operation.

The official audit letters of praise and complaint are going out to such districts as New Orleans, Miami, Cincinnati, Syracuse, Chicago, Denver, Buffalo, Rochester, Westchester County (N. Y.), Omaha, Las Vegas, Peoria, Rockford, South Bend, Tulsa, Indianapolis, etc., in that order, I'm informed.

Let not the onus for the "mixed bag" fall solely on the plumbers and pipefitters. There are asbestos workers, iron workers, bricklayers, carpenters, electricians, cement masons, elevator constructors, glaziers, boilermakers, lathers, roofers, sprinkler fitters and operating engineer locals being pursued by the government's Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCC). In other words, the voluntary anti-discrimination plans to open the union membership rosters to willing black and Spanish-surnamed workers appear to have fizzled after the ink went dry on the fraternal compacts.

And these audits are just the beginning of government action. It's a slow process. The federals have but 2,000 such "auditors" or investigators. They are but 100 in the Labor Dept.'s OFCC. The others are scattered in 19 other anti-discrimination enforcement agencies.

Each agency has jurisdiction over some industrial sector. For example, the Defense Dept. monitors the automotive and steel industry; the Interior Dept. handles the mining fields, the Veterans Administration oversees the drug business, and HEW keeps an eye on higher education, etc.

Also in the action is the EEOC which, with the Labor Dept., reports a backlog of 60,000 "discrimination" cases.

The offensive on labor and industry in this field is just beginning to roll. There will be government overzealousness and extraordinary punishments. But one phenomenon appears to be certain--- there are many building and construction trades unions which aren't as egalitarian in the use of the wrench and torch as their rhetoric would have the public believe.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Chile Jails The Wrong Man For Leaking ITT-Chile Papers

WASHINGTON — When we reported in March 1972 that ITT had plotted to block Salvador Allende from assuming the presidency in Chile, there was a lot of whispering and wondering how we got the secret ITT papers to document our story.

Published reports named Orlando Letelier, then the Chilean ambassador in Washington, as our source. We flatly denied the report.

Now his wife has sent word to us through a courier from Chile that Letelier has been dumped into prison and fears for his safety. He is convinced, according to the message from his wife, that the military junta has jailed him for giving us the ITT-Chile documents.

A few minutes after the courier got the information to us, we were able to reach the highest Chilean diplomat now in Washington, Sr. Mario Artaza. We expressed our concern that Letelier may be harmed because of false charges. We swore out an affidavit declaring that neither Letelier nor his associates gave us the ITT papers.

Sr. Artaza assured us the imprisoned Letelier was "not in danger" but, nevertheless, promised to transmit our message by urgent cable to Santiago.

Conflict of Interest: The Interior Department has awarded a $2.3 million noncompetitive contract to a company to study the environmental impact of its own coal mining operations. By an interesting coincidence, the corporate executives also happen to have donated heavily to the GOP.

In a bubbly press release, Interior Secretary Rogers Morton announced that Fluor Utah, Inc., would study "environmental, technical and economic requirements for large- scale coal mining systems" in vast areas of the West.

Morton said the consulting firm of Bonner & Moore Associates would also join Fluor Utah in finding ways to increase coal production "to help meet the growing energy shortage."

Noble as this project may sound, Morton failed to give the public the real story behind the lucrative contract, which was granted without a bid after private talks with Flour Utah.

Helps Parent Firm

Our investigation shows that both Fluor Utah and Bonner & Moore are owned outright by the giant, $500 million Fluor Corporation, which also owns mineral, gas and oil properties right in the areas Fluor Utah will study.

This puts Fluor Utah in the position of making recommendations that could benefit its own corporate parents by tens of millions of dollars.

On top of this, the GOP contribution records show that Fluor was a moneybags for the Nixon-Agnew campaign in 1972. Well over $10,000 went to the Republicans from the "Fluor Employees Political Fund," which was set up after the corporation pleaded guilty in 1969 to making illegal corporate contributions.

Thousands more were contributed personally by Fluor chairman John Robert Fluor, his relatives and his company executives, the records show.

'No Pressure' : Interior admitted there was a "mutual interest" between Fluor and its subsidiary, Fluor Utah, but said the dubious deal was not a result of political pressure.

Fluor denied it would profit from the contract and said it had put no pressure on the Administration to get it.

Significantly, however, when we reached a Fluor Corporation executive in California for comment, he had already been tipped off by friendly Interior officials that we were working on the story.

Footnote: In addition to Nixon and Agnew, various GOP senatorial candidates received money from the Fluor people, including Sens. Jesse Helms, N.C., Jim McClure, Idaho, and Charles Percy, Ill., and unsuccessful candidates Henry Hibbard, Mont., and Pete Dominici, N.M.

Agnew and Bumblebee: For all his troubles, Spiro Agnew hasn't lost his sense of humor. Last week, the Vice President sent a belated birthday card to his former press secretary, Vic Gold, who is becoming one of those elite and effete columnists Agnew used to condemn. Gold will start writing a nationally syndicated column this month.

Agnew's late card featured a sick owl explaining: "Sorry you didn't hear from me on your birthday, but I had eaten a bumblebee on a dare -- and was having a very rough day." That happened to be the day Agnew took his unprecedented request for a congressional inquiry to House leaders on Capitol Hill.

What's the law?

The case of the busted block

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

While most men watch girls for reasons of passion, Barry watched them for the purely scientific purpose of determining the approach of winter. When their skirts blew high enough, he knew it was time to have his car winterized. And one day he suddenly realized that the time had arrived.

With skirts blowing dangerously high, he raced down to his local garage to have the antifreeze in his car checked. After checking it, however, the attendant informed Barry that he already probably had enough antifreeze in his vehicle to withstand temperatures of 10 below zero. Consequently, no additional antifreeze was added.

That night, temperatures dipped only to 17 degrees above zero. Nevertheless, the engine block of Barry's car froze solid and burst apart like a pregnant amoeba. Mourning the demise of his vehicle, Barry sued the owner of the garage for its loss.

"The block of my car burst," he complained in court, "because his attendant was a blockhead."

"That's not so," retorted the owner of the garage. "My attendant merely made an error in judgment. Because his judgment may have been poor is no reason to make me poor."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the garage owner pay for the demise of Barry's car?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the attendant made no effort to deceive Barry. There was merely an error in his opinion as to whether or not there was sufficient antifreeze in Barry's car to withstand the freeze that came. And, concluded the judge, a person cannot be held liable for an error in opinion.

Ann Landers

Mental health organization chapters in every state

Dear Ann Landers: Isn't it interesting how many grandmothers are needed when the children are small, and then become "pests" when the children grow older and they are no longer useful as babysitters and mother's helpers?--- A "Pest"

Dear Friend: Anyone who has been reading this column knows my position on this matter. Grandmothers who sit and "help mother" should do so only if they enjoy it, and not because they are looking for thanks. Gratitude has a very short memory. The ideal status for a grand mother is to be an invited guest. Then she will always be welcome.

Dear Ann: It's late in the season to be writing about power lawn mowers, but the unfortunate incident that prompts this letter occurred only last week.

Please tell your readers NEVER, NEVER, NEVER to mow their lawns with a power mower while wearing sneakers or any canvas- weight shoe or sandal. One split second with your toe or foot under that mower could result in a crippling accident. We learned this lesson by experience--- and a bitter one at that.--- Heartsick In Tampa

Dear Tampa: Thanks for the lesson. Are you listening, students?

Dear Ann Landers: You are right on with your answer to B. B. in regard to people who solicit free medical advice from doctors at dinner parties.

As a wife who is frequently asked, "Do you mind if I impose on your husband?" I hoped you would emphasize that it's poor taste to try to get for nothing something that took a doctor twelve years to learn.

My husband is a pediatrician who resents "social" conversations that drift to the medical problems of everybody's children. Even close friends have brought their children to our home and asked my husband to take a look at a throat, or an ear, or a foot. These same friends, interestingly enough, when they have to Pay, take their children to another doctor. I consider this a left- handed insult. Is their a gracious way out?--- Anchorage

Dear Anc: Physicians who are approached for curbstone medical diagnosis can and should say, "Sorry, I don't have the proper lights or equipment to do a good evaluation. Please phone my nurse and make an appointment."

Dear Ann Landers: You frequently suggest that your readers see their doctors, or you tell them to get psychiatric help. Sometimes the doctors you send them to say, "There's nothing wrong with you." What they mean is, "There is nothing PHYSICALLY wrong with you." These people often need psychiatric help but they can't afford it and they don't know where to turn.

I'd like to acquaint your readers with the National Association For Mental Health. The national headquarters are at 1800 North Kent Street, Rosslyn Station, Arlington, Va. 22209. This is a non- profit, volunteer organization with a chapter in every state. Many states have local chapters. Please tell your readers that help is just a phone call away or as near as an eight- cent stamp. Anyone who wants our literature can call or write.

We are listed in the phone book two ways. In the Waukesha, Wisconsin, phone book it's: Waukesha County Mental Health Assn. or Wisconsin Assn. For Mental Health.

Put us together with the people who need us, Ann. We want to help.--- Alice Spillard of W. W.

Dear Alice: Done! And I thank you.

Charleston romps

CHARLESTON-- Coach Joe Black's Blue Jays footballers put up a perfect defense against the Perryville Pirates here Friday night and shutout their Northern conference visitors 20- 0 for the Bluejays fourth consecutive shutout of the season. Charleston completely snuffed out the Pirate running and passing game.

The first quarter was scoreless as neither team could dent the others defense. After the Bluejays marched deep into Pirate territory in the second period, the northern division's leading scorer, J. J. Black took a pitchout from quarterback Junior Delay and squirted down the sideline for a touchdown and a 6- 0 lead. The Pirates stopped Black on the extra point attempt and Charleston took a 6- 0 lead into the dressing room at the half.

Early in the third quarter Charleston took over on downs from the Pirates and after marching to the Perryville 15 yard line, Junior Delay pitched an aerial to Kent Sutherland for the touchdown and a 12- 0 lead as the try for the extra points was missed.

Late in the fourth period the Bluejays drove down the field and J. J. Black broke through the Pirate defense for 15 yards and his second TD of the game. Junior Delay hit Kent Sutherland in the end zone for two points and Charleston had a 20- 0 lead tucked away and perfect record intact for another week.

Perryville couldn't do anything against the Bluejay defense as the Pirates finished the game with a minus six yards on the ground and only 43 through the air. Charleston ran for 203 yards and passed for a total of 77 yards through the air and a total offense of 280 yards in the game.

J. J. Black rushed for 95 yards and Kent Sutherland ran for a total of 56 yards.

Bulldogs chase Eagles

PORTAGEVILLE-- Billy Gibson led the Portageville Bulldogs to a 40- 6 victory over the East Prairie Eagles in South Conference action last night. Gibson scored in the first quarter on a ten yard run and the extra point following was kicked by David Morris. Gibson scored again in the second quarter sprinting 58 yards for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was missed.

Robert Dailey scored early in the third quarter on a 70 yard run and once again Morris kicked the extra point.

East Prairie got on the scoreboard late in the third quarter on a one yard plung. The Eagles attempted a two point conversion and failed. Early in the Fourth Quarter Portagevilles Louie Savat intercepted a Eagle pass and returned it for 90 yards and the fourth Portageville touchdown. The extra point attempt by Morris failed to split the uprights.

Billy Gibson scored his third touchdown of the evening on a five yard run. The extra point following was good.

Robert Dailey added the final touchdown for the Bulldogs with David Morris adding the extra point.

The Bulldog Defensive Charge was led by Samuel Johnson with 17 unassisted tackles.

Portageville is 2- 2 for the season with losses to Charleston and Dexter and victories this season include Chaffee and East Prairie. East Prairie is now 2- 2 for the season with losses to Scott City and Portageville and wins over Chaffee and Hayti.

Mules unbeaten

JACKSON — A well balanced Mule attack lead them to a 13-8 victory over the Indians here Friday night in Northern Division play. The defense of Poplar Bluff was able to contain Loren Sides and aid in their victory.

Poplar Bluff struck first when Steve Cash scored on a five yard run in the first quarter. Gene Sanders booted the extra point. The score remained the same throughout the first half.

Jackson took the lead in the third quarter when Daryl Sides teamed up with Mark Jones for a 31 yard touchdown pass play. Mark Jones gave the Indians a 8-7 lead with his successful two point conversion.

The Mules capitalized on a blocked Jackson punt in the fourth quarter to score the winning touchdown. With 1:33 left in the game the Mules started on the Jackson 12 yard line and four plays later Steve Cash scored from the two yard line. The extra point was no good, but the game belonged to PBHS.

Traffic hazard created

Highway construction engineers may have unwittingly created a traffic hazard on the recently completed Highway 61 widening project along Main Street. Salcedo Road and North Ranney Street intersect with North Main Street within about 40 yards of each other. This causes a driver who might want to go from North Ranney onto Salcedo to choose between crossing two lanes of traffic only to immediately have to recross those same lanes to turn left, or to take a more direct, if less legal, route by driving the short distance up the shoulder to the turn onto Salcedo. The stop sign in the foreground is on Salcedo Road. The one in the background is on North Ranney. The dark area along the roadside between the two streets is the shoulder route some drivers have chosen.

5 theater productions planned at SeMo State

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Five major productions will be presented during the current academic year by University Theatre of Southeast Missouri State University.

Billed as the "Centennial Season" in keeping with the university's 100th birthday celebration, which will run through mid- May, the schedule includes one more major production than last year and, perhaps, more variety as well.

To be presented are two musical comedies, a Shakespearian comedy, a Christmas opera and a folk drama.

Another change from previous years allows area residents, as well as students, to be cast in the productions. Previously, with few exceptions, only student actors and actresses have been presented.

The first show of the year, a musical comedy titled "The Apple Tree," opened Thursday and ends tonight and runs again Wednesday through Saturday. The latter part of the split run coincides with the dates of Homecoming, the next major event in Southeast Missouri State's centennial observance.

A three- part show, "The Apple Tree" consists of a series of short plays dealing with the whimsical problems lovers have encountered since time began. The musical was written by Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harrick.

Donald Schulte, assistant professor of speech at Southeast Missouri State, is the director. Technical work and costumes are being handled by Terry Woody and Miss Susan White, both instructors of speech.

Dr. Robert Jones, associate professor of music, is assisting with the musical arrangements.

First part of the show is based on "The Dairy of Adam and Eve," by Mark Twain. Frank Stockton's tale of "The Lady and the Tiger" takes the spotlight as the second portion, and a modernized version of "Cinderella" completes the show. It is "Passionella" by Jules Feiffer.

Other productions during the "Centennial Season" will be "Twelfth Night," Nov. 8-10 and 14-17; "Amahl and the Night Visitors," Dec. 10-11 and 13-15; "1776," Feb. 20-23 and Feb. 27-March 2; and "Dark of the Moon," April 25- 27 and May 1-4.

Curtain time for all shows is 8 p.m. in the Rose Theatre of the Language Arts Building on the campus.

Besides the live productions, the University Theatre has scheduled five film nights during the current academic year. The first was on Sept. 14. Remaining nights are Nov. 30, Jan. 18, Feb. 1 and March 20.

University Theatre coupon holders are admitted to the movies and plays free and have an opportunity to reserve seats for the stage productions before individual ticket sales begin.

Season coupons will remain on sale through Oct. 13. They are $6 for non-students and may be ordered through the University Theatre box office, located in the lobby of the Language Arts Building.

The box office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and on production nights.

Special opening night theatre party and off-campus group rates for nights other than Friday and Saturday are available.

Season coupons, individual tickets, and information about group rates may be obtained by writing the box office at the university. A self- addressed, stamped envelope should be enclosed, and checks should be made payable to Southeast Missouri State University.

Cotton harvest gets under way

By JOE H. SCOTT
State Agronomy Specialist

PORTAGEVILLE — Cotton harvest got under way in the Bootheel last week, but was interrupted by showers the latter part of the week. We have quite a bit of open cotton and we need sunshine, not rain. I am afraid we have too much half to three- fourths bale per acre cotton to make our September government estimate of 190,000 bales.

Soybean harvest will get into high gear this month, but harvest will stretch into November due to wide spread in planting dates.

Generally, the soybean crop looks fairly promising. However, it is unfortunate that we will have high losses from weeds and diseases in some fields.

I see Johnson grass going to seed in quite a few fields. This pest will continue to be a problem in these fields until a control program is initiated and carried out. We have herbicides on the market that will do a good job of controlling Johnson grass and will fit well into a weed control and cropping program.

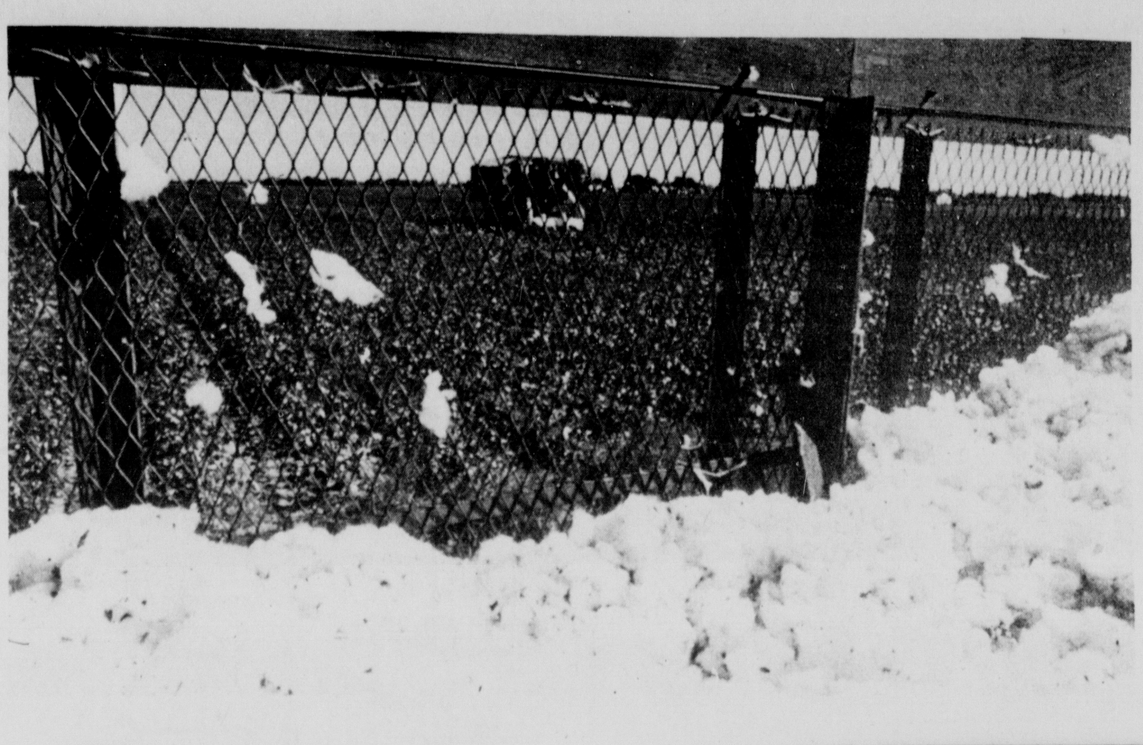
Growers are becoming more conscious of diseases in their fields. Some days when I walk into Dr. Chuck Baldwin's plant pathology laboratory at the Delta Center, I can't see him for the soybean plants stacked up to be diagnosed for disease problems.

Root rot diseases have been rather common this season. Phytopthora root rot, charcoal rot and sclerotial blight (Southern blight) are widespread fungus diseases in the Bootheel.

Phytopthora attacks plants at all stages and is quite noticeable in wet seasons and can be found on all soils but more so on low, poorly drained soils. We have a number of soybean varieties that are resistant to phytopthora and some with high field tolerance.

We are not as fortunate when it comes to controlling "Southern blight" and charcoal rot. These diseases are building up where we failed to rotate.

We keep harping on rotation but it is becoming more important than ever with diseases more prevalent and the widespread infestations of the race 4 cyst nematode. Rotation will also help clean up some of our weedy fields. Another plus factor for rotation is soil fertility. Soybeans will respond well when following highly fertilized cotton, corn and grain sorghm fields.



Here comes cotton

Fall cotton harvest has finally begun after a year that witnessed crop delays due to heavy spring rains and a near drought in mid-summer. One of the Bootheel farmers now gathering the fluffy, white product is Louis Watkins, who farms near Vanduser. A rapidly filling cotton trailer (top photo) frames Watkins' new picker as it moves up the rows. Jimmy Lovel of Morley (right photo) packs down the fresly picked cotton to make room for more. Watkins estimates that he will harvest about three- fourths bale per acre on the 65- acre field.

Flood relief bill urged

JEFFERSON CITY — "Now that the rivers are out of their banks again, Missouri farmers are about to feel the adverse effect of still another Presidential act, in this case a veto," remarks C. R. "Dick" Johnston, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau.

"Farm Bureau has been working hard, coaching a flood relief bill through the House and Senate to give farmers treatment equal to the accorded small businessmen who are victims of swollen rivers.

"Under the bill, disaster-area farmers would be able to choose the option of taking out a loan at 3 per cent interest with $2,500 forgiveness or one per cent with no forgiveness. The only help a farmer can get now is a 5 per cent loan with no forgiveness.

"But we were disappointed when the President vetoed that measure on Sept. 22. We are even more disappointed now that some 23,000 acres are under water between Glasgow and Jefferson City. Unfortunately, our effort in the Senate to override the President's veto fell five votes short."

Johnston made his comments during a special plea to the lieutentant governor's office to have several Missouri counties declared disaster areas in the wake of spreading floodwaters.

"Word from the lietuenant governor's office is that, under the new rules, there is no way counties can be declared disaster areas until a certain money figure is reached," Johnston continued, "and I urge all farmers to report and document any losses they may have so those counties facing a disaster situation can be declared disaster areas. These reports should be made directly to the lieutenant governor's office in Jefferson City.

"Failure to use the last four and a half months to repair levees damaged by last spring's floods is topping off a series of natural and manmade disasters ranging from those very floods to fuel shortages and ill-advised export embargoes Millions of dollars worth of crops may still be devastated, and this year's prospects of a bumper crop can still be washed away," the farm leader adds.

Many levees damaged by the floods last spring are still unrepaired because many government contracts were not funded until only recently, and work had not yet started.

"MFB has also learned that downstream farmers preparing for expected floods should call the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers before starting work on a government levee, because the Corps won't reimburse for work done without its knowledge," Johnston concludes.

Export demand keeps fertilizer costs high

COLUMBIA — To exempt fertilizer prices from government control would jump the cost to farmers and increase cost of food to consumers, thinks Fred V. Heinkel, president of Midcontinent Farmers Association.

The nation's fertilizer industry is producing too much for freighters and not eough for the farmers, he added.

In an article in the October issue of Today's Farmer Heinkel said that export prices are substantially above government controlled domestic prices.

"As a result, investor - owned companies – seeking highest profits -- are diverting an increasing share of their production into the export market. Because their purpose is to supply fertilizer to member-owners, cooperatives -- including the MFA -- are ignoring the opportunity to enhance earnings through export fertilizer sales.

"However, cooperatives supply only about 35 per cent of the domestic fertizer demand, and they don't have the production capacity to make up for what's being shipped abroad by investor-owned companies," Heinkel warned.

"In terms of both farmer interest and national interest, an export curb appears to be the most sensible approach. In addition to assuring enough fertilizer to produce needed food, it would conserve this nation's irreplaceable phosphate resources," Heinkel concluded.

ASCS voter list open for inspection

BENTON — A list of eligible voters for the upcoming agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service community committee elections has been compiled and is now open for inspection at the county ASCS office according to Fletcher Withrow, chairman of the Scott County committee.

Every effort has been made to include all persons eligible to vote in the ASC farmer committee elections to be held during ghe period Nov. 23 through Dec. 3.

Scott County farmers are encouraged to nominate candidates for the ASC community committee on blank petitions recently mailed from the county ASCS office. Petitions, to be valid, must contain the signatures of at least three qualified voters in the community and be filed with the county ASCS office in Benton by Oct. 29.

"We are hopeful that a slate of at least six candidates will be nominated for each township by farmer petition," Withrow said.

There are no changes in township boundaries this year. The eight townships are: Commerce, Kelso, Moreland, Morley, Richland, Sandywoods, Sylvania and Tywappity, according to the ASC chairman.

Most persons eligible to participate in ASCS programs are eligible to serve as community committeemen. This includes producers, sharecroppers and tenants. Nominees must have farming interests in the township for which they are nominated, be currently engaged in the operation of a farm and not have reached their 70th birthday.

ASC community committeemen elected will assist the county committee with farm programs and serve as delegates to the county convention in December where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee.

Dog pound completed

MOREHOUSE — Mayor Marlin Swinger told the Morehouse Community Betterment Committee Thursday night that the city dog pound has been completed. He urged citizens to help the dog catcher catch stray dogs.

Reports were made on the status of the city park. Sewer and water lines have been run to the building site of the public rest rooms, and paving of the tennis court is expected to begin sometime next week.

Eddie Webb was appointed to inquire about the cost of building a current events bulletin board. Sue Swinney and Phyllis Ryan were appointed co-chairmen of a winter recreational committee.

Burglars take collection of silver dollars

ESSEX — A number of items of undetermined value including a rare collection of silver dollars, were taken during a break-in Wednesday night at Trailback Plantation, home of Tom Baker, former state representative and prominent Stoddard County landowner.

Authorities said the Bakers were away from home when the burglary occurred at the home east of Essex.

Entry was gained by breaking an upstairs window and there was extensive damage to other windows and glass doors in the house from the inside, the Stoddard County sheriff's office said.

The burglars apparently left before they had finished their work after tripping an alarm, the sheriff's office said. The break-in was discovered Thursday morning when the maid came to the home. She telephoned Mrs. Baker, who then notified authorities.

The Icelandic language has remained virtually unchanged since the 12th century.

Springs home burglarized

The home of Buddy Springs of Salcedo was burglarized between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Friday, according to Scott County Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman.

The robbery was discovered at 9:15 p.m. when the family returned home.

Taken were two gold watches, a vacuum sweeper, and some jewelry. An 8 x 10 piece of carpet was cut off the floor from wall to wall carpeting in the living room.

Entrance was gained through a side window.

Investigation is still being conducted by the sheriff's department.

The report states that "for local governments, property taxes remain their preeminent revenue source. Collections exceed anything in the past, even though property taxes now constitute a smaller percentage of total revenue than they did 10 years ago."

Currently, it shows, local governments are getting $36.7 from property taxes, equal to 84.6 percent of their total revenue.

Back in 1961, on the other hand, when property taxes were providing them with 87.7 percent of their total, they amounted to only $17.4 billion.

Autumn tours begin Sunday

PUXICO— Fall foliage and wildlife can be observed by Sunday afternoon motorists taking advantage of the 25-mile auto tours during October and November at Mingo Wildlife Refuge, according to Mingo Refuge Manager Jerry Clawson.

This year's tours will be self guided and will begin at the refuge headquarters one and a half miles north of Puxico on Highway 51.

A leaflet which describes points of interest along the route is available free at the start of the tour.

The tour route follows the outside perimeter of the famed Mingo Swamp and runs completely around the area, ending on Highway 51 three miles north of the refuge headquarters.

Clawson said it takes about two hours to complete the tour.

The Carol Burnet Show

HELEN REDDY: AMUSED AT BEING CALLED A "NEWCOMER"

Helen Reddy and Carol Burnett seem to have a lot in common. Both are talented singers, both work professionally with their husbands, both are mothers, and both are among the few women performers to have their own musical- variety programs.

But there the similarities end, for, while Miss Burnett grew up in Hollywood, it was not until college that she discovered she wanted to be a performer. By contrast, Miss Reddy was born in an Australian trunk, so to speak, making her professional singing debut at the age of 4 in the Tivoli Theatre in Perth, Australia, and she has been singing ever since.

Miss Reddy is, therefore, amused to find people associating her with other singers tagged as "newcomers." "When you have been singing for your supper for 25 years," she remarks, "it comes as a bit of a shock to find people looking upon you as the new kid on the block."

One of last season's most popular guests on "The Carol Burnett Show," Miss Reddy returns as Miss Burnett's guest on Saturday, Oct. 6 (10:00- 11:00 PM, EDT) on the CBS Television Network, after hosting a summer series of her own.

Miss Reddy's parents are show people. Her father, Max Reddy, was a well- known writer, producer and comic actor in Australia. Stella Lemond, her mother, is an equally prominent actress. Miss Reddy not only sang with them as a child, but appeared with them on their own long- running radio show, playing virtually every female part. By the time she was 15, she was a thoroughly trained and experienced show business veteran.

While she was still a teenager, Miss Reddy made up her mind that a show business career in America was her ultimate goal, but it wasn't until 1966, after winning a talent contest that involved more than 1,300 contestants in Australia, that she finally made it.

It was nearly three years later and many small- time, part- time, and no- time jobs in between before she recorded her first hit record.

Miss Reddy is happy she was able to wait out that long period when hard rock and male groups held sway in the music business. The quality of her own musical integrity has been proved. "Taste is moving away from loud noise and back to melody and lyrics," she says. And Miss Burnett couldn't agree with her more.

EMERGENCY CREW-- Paramedics, doctors and a nurse are on hand to help when emergencies arise in the NBC Television Network action series "Emergency!" in color on the NBC Television Network. 10:30 ABC— MISSION: MAGIC!— An animated adventure series in which a magical schoolteacher, Miss Tickle, takes her teenage friends into a different fantasy land.
